COLORS OF ARUBA

WHEN MIAMI DESIGNER JUAN POGGI GOT THE CALL FROM HIS CLIENTS INVITING HIM TO DESIGN THEIR ARUBA GET-AWAY ... HE WASN'T SURPRISED AT THEIR CAVEAT: "WE'RE GOING TO WORK WITH COLOR!"

Amidst the bold color statements of the Paola Lenti sofas and chairs on the terraced third level that overlooks the Caribbean, small details give the residence a finished fit. Maya Lin's elliptical white tables, smooth teak cabana dividers and the sleek simplicity of a Viking kitchen make for sophisticated fun ... au natural.

A mobile chandelier from J. Batchelor casts a glow over the living area, while Luminaire provides additional sculptural lighting with a floor lamp twisting upward, and across the room, a spherical lamp within a lamp atop the corner occasional table from Artefacto. Just outside, Kettal furnishings form a social grouping to enjoy a sunny snack alfresco.

Paola Lenti area rugs top tiles by Naturali Stone to pull vibrant sofas into circles of intimacy on the terrace. Poggi shrouded a view of the arid part of Aruba behind a luminescent plant-filled wall, where internal shelves keep delicate tendrils from the tropical sun.
